A WELCOME FROM SOPHIE

Hello, I'm Sophie.

I set up Ethicare after years working in the NHS in London, most recently leading service improvement. I spent a year working and travelling in Australia, and I've lived in New Zealand too, so I know what it is like to arrive somewhere new and piece it all together: the job, the paperwork, somewhere to live, and finding your people.

We have been helping healthcare professionals move to New Zealand since 2023, and to Australia since March 2026. Whether you are a radiologist at the top of your game or a radiographer early in your career, every move we support looks a little different, and yours will too.

So please talk to us. Tell us what appeals to you and what is worrying you. If you are not sure about the timing, or about Australia at all, that is fine. We would rather know early.

The rest of this pack explains how we will work with you, and the free tools you can use whenever you need them.

Warm regards,

Sophie

Founder, Ethicare Resourcing

We guide you through every stage

From the first conversation to long after you arrive, we're here to support you. This is the same six-step journey you'll find on our website.

STEP 1

Discovery call

Understanding your goals, your family situation and whether Australia or New Zealand may be the right fit.

STEP 2

Eligibility & registration

Assessing registration requirements and helping you understand your options clearly.

STEP 3

Opportunities & interviews

Discussing locations, employers and salaries, then preparing you for interviews and what employers look for.

STEP 4

Offer & decision support

Helping you evaluate opportunities and make the decision that's right for you.

STEP 5

Visa & relocation guidance

Supporting you through the practicalities of moving overseas.

STEP 6

Settling in

Ongoing support as you begin your new life and career, long after you arrive.

Clear about our role

Employers make hiring decisions, and the relevant authorities decide registration and visas. We help you navigate the process but cannot guarantee those outcomes. Immigration advice specific to you should come from a licensed or authorised adviser.

What you can expect, and what we ask

Here is what we commit to, and what we ask of you in return.

From us

- Honest information about roles, locations and the support available.
- Clear next steps and an agreed time to check in.
- Your agreement before we submit your CV to an employer.
- A realistic timeframe for exploring roles. We will not ask you to wait indefinitely.
- A direct answer if we are unable to help, so you can pursue other options.

From you

- Give us the first opportunity to explore suitable roles. Speak with us before approaching other recruiters or applying directly.
- Tell us about any applications you have already made.
- Keep your CV and details accurate, and reply within the timeframe we agree.
- Ask questions before accepting an offer. The employer will start planning for your arrival.
- Tell us early if anything changes, including if moving no longer feels right.

If you are overwhelmed, unsure or need to pause, say so. An honest conversation is always more helpful than silence.

The roles we support

In Australia we currently focus on medical imaging and radiation therapy.

Medical imaging

Sonographers, radiographers, nuclear medicine technologists and consultant radiologists.

Radiation therapy

Radiation therapists.

Nursing & midwifery

We are not recruiting nurses or midwives for Australia at present. Demand changes, so please tell us if you are interested.

Vacancies and demand

Not every vacancy we recruit for appears on our website, so please ask us even if you cannot see a suitable role listed. Whether we can put you forward depends on current demand and on whether the role can be filled by a local candidate first.

At the start, we will tell you honestly whether we have suitable vacancies now, need to explore opportunities with employers, or are unlikely to be able to help at present. Registering with Ethicare does not guarantee a job.

Costs

Ethicare does not charge candidates a recruitment fee. Registration, checks, visas, travel and relocation may have costs, and what an employer contributes varies by offer. We will help you check them before you make commitments.
